

"EUROPEAN WOMEN READY FOR POLYGAMY," SAYS MORMON LEADER'S GRANDDAUGHTER

Miss Lucy Gates.

Polygamy as a means of repopulating Europe after the war is being seriously advanced by Miss Emma Lucy Gates, granddaughter of Brigham Young, pioneer Mormon leader.

Coming from Europe since the outbreak of hostilities, Miss Gates predicts that the women of the war-drained nations are today ready to accept polygamous marriage. She bases her belief on 12 years' association with European women in various old world capitals.

Miss Gates for many years sang with the Royal Opera at the Kaiser's theater in Berlin.

"I have," she said, "known many families in Utah where there were several wives, and I have known many unmarried girls in Europe—where matrimony is the only career—and I am convinced the woman who is one of many wives is happier than the permanent spinster."
